Executive Summary

The Anti-Corruption & Anti-Bribery Practices program provides a comprehensive framework for preventing, detecting, and addressing corruption and bribery risks within organizations. It equips participants with the knowledge and tools required to establish effective anti-corruption controls aligned with international standards and best practices. The program emphasizes a risk-based and ethical approach to compliance, integrating policies, procedures, and internal controls to promote transparency and accountability. Participants will gain practical insights into identifying corruption risks, conducting due diligence, and managing third-party relationships. Through real-world case studies and scenario-based learning, the course enables professionals to strengthen compliance programs, mitigate legal and reputational risks, and foster a culture of integrity.
