Executive Summary

The Health & Safety Leadership & Culture program is designed to develop leadership capabilities that drive a strong and sustainable safety culture within organizations. It equips participants with the knowledge and tools required to influence behaviors, enhance accountability, and embed safety as a core organizational value. The program emphasizes the critical role of leadership in shaping attitudes, behaviors, and decision-making processes that impact workplace safety. Participants will learn how to lead by example, engage teams effectively, and foster a proactive, high-performance safety culture. Through interactive discussions, behavioral insights, and real-world case studies, the course enables leaders to transform safety from a compliance requirement into a strategic organizational advantage.
