Executive Summary

Strategic planning in the public sector is essential for ensuring that government institutions effectively deliver services, achieve policy objectives, and respond to evolving societal needs. This program equips public sector leaders with modern strategic planning frameworks designed specifically for governmental and public administration environments. Participants will explore methods for aligning institutional strategies with national development priorities, improving policy implementation, and enhancing accountability and transparency. Through practical workshops and real-world case studies, the program demonstrates how data-driven decision-making and stakeholder engagement can strengthen strategic outcomes. By the end of the program, participants will be able to design and implement strategic plans that create measurable public value and sustainable institutional performance.
